Mrs. Edward Moffo Has Two Slight Cuts on The Right Side of Face — Notifies Police and A Search is Gotten Under Way

A Bristol woman reported to local police this morning that a man who forced his way into her home when she answered his knock this morning at 10:15 slashed her on the face.

The victim is Mrs. Edward Moffo, of the 200 block of Penn street.

Mrs. Moffo, who telephoned Bristol police as soon as she was able, informed them that when she responded to a knock at the door, a man forced his way in. She told him to leave, and it was then, she states, that he slashed her with a sharp instrument.

Mrs. Moffo sustained slight cuts on the right side of her face. She was alone when the intruder entered.

She describes the man as being colored. Bristol police at once commenced a search of the area.

Mrs. Moffo was treated at her home by a physician.

Aeromodelers Take Prizes at Newtown Meet

Those of the Aeromodelers who participated in the Newtown exchange Club's first model airplane contest yesterday voted to give the Newtown Exchange Club an "E" for effort for a fine contest.

Although there were gale like winds and the meet was late in starting due to the lack of enough timing officials, all who attended were well pleased.

Nearly the entire club turned out to witness the affair and six members entered models. James Van-Sant Jr., of the Bristol club, carried home first prize in class A, senior speed event and third prize in the class C senior speed event. His top speed for one-half mile timed course being 110.6 miles per hour, the fastest ever flown by anyone in the Bristol Club.

Thomas Spitzko took third prize in the class C Jr. speed event, using a "Flying Circus" stunt model and turning in a speed of 69 m. p. h.

Other members who entered but had tough luck were: Warren McQuaid, Charles Rauch, William Kopak and Clarence Wells. Warren McQuaid made a good attempt in the Class A Jr. speed event but failed to complete the full one-quarter mile speed run to qualify. Clarence Wells looped his Class B speed model and dove it into the earth with no damage when the controls stuck in flight.

Members of the Aeromodelers were pleased to see several of the Exchange Club members turn out to witness this model meet.

At the last meeting of the Aeromodelers the members voted to have Wednesday evening as a permanent meeting night. Plans were discussed for the improvement of the new meeting place and workshop. Over 24 members were present and several new model builders were on hand to join the club. The increase in interest in this hobby in Bristol during the past few weeks is notable. Many young boys are rapidly taking up this hobby and a fully equipped hobby shop has been opened up in Bristol to supply the model enthusiasts with their materials.

A SUMMARY OF THE NEWS

GOVERNOR DUEY DECLARED LAST NIGHT THAT THE UNITED STATES BIPARTISAN FOREIGN POLICY WAS STILL IN FORCE. HIS STATEMENT FOLLOWED PRESIDENT TRUMAN'S ABANDONED PROPOSAL TO SEND CHIEF JUSTICE VINSON TO PREMIER STALIN IN A MOVE THAT WOULD HAVE BY-PASSED THE UNITED NATIONS AND THE OTHER WESTERN POWERS. MR. DUEY SAID THAT AMERICANS WERE UNITED BEHIND THEIR UNITED NATIONS DELEGATION AND ITS INSISTENCE ON THE END OF THE BERLIN BLOCKADE. HIS ADVISERS DESCRIBED PRESIDENT TRUMAN'S ABANDONED PLAN AS A GRAVE BLUNDER.

"We have just had a narrow escape," Senator Vandenberg said in referring to the proposed Moscow talks. In accepting the Freedom House annual Freedom Award, he declared that the "over-riding aim" of the United States is "not to contain Russia" or "to Americanize Europe" but to take Europe off the dole." He warned Marshall Plan countries that their efforts would be subjected to the "acid test" of a Congressional audit. Mr. Vandenberg urged Russia to forsake what he called imperialist ways and urged that the offer of a four-power fifty-year pact to keep Germany disarmed be renewed.

Having persuaded the President to abandon the idea of a new appeal

WILL IMPROVE THE STREETS IN PERKASIE

Considerable Improvement To Be Made to Sidewalks Also

PLAN WAR ON RATS

PERKASIE, Oct. 11.—Perkasie borough council at its session this week contemplated considerable improvements to streets and sidewalks here.

An ordinance to establish a grade on Seventh street between Spruce street and Park avenue, as well as to provide for sidewalks on the east side of that street was introduced and passed on first reading.

J. Lawrence Grim, borough solicitor, was instructed to draft an ordinance providing for specific regulations for the construction of sidewalks in the borough. Plans were made to surface with a black-top material Market street, between Second and Third streets. The block-long section of the street leading to the park now has a cinder surface.

Work has started on a storm sewer on Main street, south of Walnut street, in the Third Ward. The sewer will be four feet square, constructed of cement. The highway department hopes to have the job completed before freezing weather. This is expected to overcome the flood problem which has occurred in that section of the borough for many years.

Borough Secretary Phares Bader was instructed to notify property owners on the west side of North Ninth street between Arch and Race streets to improve their sidewalks.

The borough will then extend the street surface to these sidewalks. A Philadelphia firm has been awarded a tentative contract to rid the Perkaskie official dump of rats. The contract calls for an intensive drive followed by monthly treatments for a year. The dump is located on Eighth street near Spruce, and is reported over-run with rats.

Esther Yeakey, tax collector, turned over to the council treasurer, $1,296 collected on the 1948 duplicate, leaving $1,167 uncollected. Net income of the Perkaskie Electric Light Department was $2,185, it was reported for the month of September.

SAVE THE TWO-PARTY SYSTEM!

Do you believe in the two-party system? You should. It is one of the big factors which has kept the American people united and our form of government stable in the past.

If you want to know what happens when the two-party system breaks down, look at France. For years before the war, the French people tried in vain to set up a government which would hold together. Since liberation, there has been the same fruitless effort at unity and stability.

France is going to pieces! Inflation rages unchecked. The government simply cannot govern. Each government is set up by a combination of small factions, and the moment the government tries to do something tangible, these fusions fly apart.

France is a nation of many small parties. They are hostile to each other, jealous, non-cooperative. Each can and will wreck the administration the moment it feels that some other party is getting an inside track with the government.

When a government falls in France, it is not, as in the United States, because another party has won a majority of the public support, but merely because a temporary political truce among minorities has been broken. There is not in France a powerful majority party to "pick up the pieces" and make a fresh start.

One of the very bad results of the long rule of the New Dealers in this country has been the beginnings of the break-up of the two-party system. The Democratic Party has fallen apart. There are the Trumanites, the Wallacites and the Dixiecrats—all entered in the Presidential race, and all madder at each other than at the Republicans.

Republicans in the past have had their divisions, but this fall they are united as no political party has been for years.

The two-party system in this country is not the result of anything in the laws or the constitution. It is simply the product of native American commonsense. For generations the American people recognized that two major political parties was the proper number for best results.

But this means that the two-party system can and will disappear if the American people forget how important it is to preserve it.

This year, there is one thing, and one thing only, which can save the two-party system. That is a Republican victory. If any Joseph Zalot served in the capacity of master of ceremonies. Mr. Zalot, who is chairman of the corps committee, is past commander of Soby Post. He introduced the three clergymen who participated in portions of the program—the Rev. Fr. Monaghan, of Our Lady of Grace R. C. Church, Pennell, who offered the invocation; the Rev. Roger Hillis, chaplain of the local post, who pronounced the benediction; and the Rev. Clifford G. Pollock, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Morrisville, who delivered the address of the evening.

The Rev. Mr. Pollock, in his talk regarding "Bones," dwelt upon three "bones"—the wish-bone, backbone and funny-bone, emphasizing the funny-bone in a manner that

65,000 Men Paraded in Huge Spiritual Demonstration

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 11.—(INS)—An estimated 200,000 persons staged an amazing demonstration of spiritual vigor in Philadelphia last night.

The huge crowd, including 65,000 Catholic men who paraded through mid-city streets, participated in an extraordinary outdoor religious service.

Philadelphia police said it was the greatest mass assemblage in the city's history.

The men who paraded were members of the Holy Name Society in 245 parishes in the archdiocese of Philadelphia.

The parade ended on the Benjamin Franklin parkway where a specially-constructed altar had been erected for the outdoor services.

The tremendous crowds fanned out for five blocks from the altar.

Most Rev. Hugh L. Lamb, auxiliary bishop of Philadelphia, told the huge gathering that Catholic men should mobilize as "lay apostles" to save the nation's peace and to guarantee freedom from communism and secularism.

He said: "A Nation on its knees storming the gates of Heaven will do more than men and bombs to prevent a third world war and to secure a just and lasting peace."

Some 40 colorfully uniformed bands paced the mighty array of Holy Name men which Bishop Lamb called "an army of unashamed Christians."

Before the outdoor altar, the men canted in clear, loud tones a renewal of their Holy Name pledge and vowed to follow the teachings of their church and to be loyal to their country.

The pledge was made after a candle-lighting demonstration that was one of the highlights of the three-hour long parade and service.

The Holy Name men, tramping down Broad street and flanking City Hall as they moved up the parkway, adopted the motto, "Men Without Fear," as their theme.

CHANGES IN ORATORY

What might be termed the age of oratory as such has passed. It went out with the lyceum and the chautauqua. Platform speakers who held their audiences with the charm of words and neat phrasing, who said little to be remembered but said it with a technique which came from long practice, no longer are abroad in the land, available at so much per night.

Bryan, Cadman, Sam Jones, Billy Sunday, the Rev. Sam Small and scores of others gave America a deluge of oratory which made most of them wealthy men.

In their place has come a new generation, equally effective but with different qualifications. The radio has been responsible. Broadcasting makes certain demands upon the human voice. The microphone magnifies all the faults of diction. It eliminates entirely the use of facial expression. There are no gestures, formerly a stock in trade of those who occupied the speaking platforms.

But, taken as a whole, the radio has brought a new and better style in the use of the human voice.

INTERNATIONAL BOLTS

The ubiquitous bolt, and its sidekick, the fastener nut, tie industry together (literally) the world over. Beyond that the bolt made in Detroit, and the one from Manchester, England, and that of Lyons, France, have little in common. This is because design and technology differ strongly from nation to nation.

An American bolt will not fit an English fastener nut, nor the French the British, and so on. This one fact rules out a whole host of standardization possibilities for the industries of these countries.

There's cheerful news, then, in the announcement of an international agreement under which British fasteners and Yankee bolts, or vice versa, will join threads in technological unity. This is something two generations of industrial engineers of both nations have been preaching and demanding.

Add Beginning of the End items: Truman says 90 per cent of the nation's newspapers are controlled by the "interests."

If the earth tips over, substituting an Arctic zone for our present climate, owners of vacation resorts in mountain areas will be in an unenviable plight.

ECHOES OF THE PAST

(By Courier Staff Member)

Review of the news as it appeared in the Bucks County Gazette issue dated at Bristol Oct. 13, 1898. The Gazette, a weekly newspaper published in Bristol, was discontinued following its merger with the Courier.

Dr. Richard Dingee died at his residence in Newportville, Bucks Co., on Thursday, October 6, after a few weeks illness of rapid tuberculosis, aged about 70 years. His funeral took place on Monday, the interment being at Longwood. He was the son of Dr. Obadiah Dingee of Chester County, who was the scion of a family of French Huguenot refugees.

The old phaeton is almost worn out. Robert Bonner, the old yellow horse, has outlived his master; but the kindly simplicity, the professional skill, the many integrity of Dr. Richard Dingee will long linger in the minds and hearts of his friends and neighbors.

The regular monthly meeting of the borough council was held in the council chamber on last Monday evening. There were present: W. Frank Scull, president, and Messrs. Allen, Myers, Dugan, Flumm, Miller, McCue, Pearson, Poole, Samuel Scott, Thomas Scott and Wright.

On motion the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. was requested to place night watchmen at Washington, Lafayette and Dorrance street crossings and the clerk was directed to communicate the request to the company.

(Following items from Gazette of October 20, 1898.)

Mr. L. C. Wetling, who has been for many years with B. C. Foster in the jewelry business here, will open a store in Newtown on the 5th of November.

The occupants of Comfort's stage had a narrow escape from accident yesterday morning. While the stage was waiting at Mr. Bell's residence the high wind blew a limb down upon the horses and started them at a rapid rate down the street when they were stopped in front of the bank by John Irwin and Edward Dean, just in time to save a collision with their teams.

George Fenton, collector for the Upper Delaware River Transportation Company left Monday for Jersey City, where he is employed on one of the Pennsylvania Railroad's car transporting boats. Ted Downing is now collector for the steamboat company.

William A. Girton, the well-known dealer in paper and paper bags here, has purchased the stove store on Mill street of Serrill Douglass and will unite it with his other business.

W. H. Yost and family of New York on last Monday moved in one of Peter Diehl's houses on Durrance street. Mr. Yost has been at Coney Island during the past season and has moved his apparatus to Bristol. The Bristol Rink has been rented and he will have it fixed up for cycle skating, basketball, polo, etc. There will also be a number of nickel-in-the-slot machines that will enable any one in the building to test his weight, lungs, electric capacity, etc.

TULLYTOWN — Rev. Francis Hawke has donated to the stewards of the M. E. Church enough flag stones to make a pavement in front of the church property on Main street, and from the gate to the steps at the entrance of the church.

Washington, Oct. 11. ONE of the interesting phases of this campaign is the suffering of the confirmed journalistic and political Dewey hater, nearly all of whom are New Dealers, left-wingish and Chish in their natures and records. Few of these can write a piece or make a speech without using the word "liberal" from two to twenty times.

THESE are the individuals who ever since 1940 have sneeringly referred to Governor Dewey as "Little Tom," repeated with venom the Ethel Barrymore story of the bridegroom on the wedding cake and gleefully circulated the venomous remark of Mrs. Kenneth Simpson that "You have to know Tom Dewey well really to dislike him." Largely, inspiration for this petty form of disparagement came from the White House during the Roosevelt regime. It was typical of the late Mr. Roosevelt's attitude toward those who opposed him. Since the Republican Convention, however, this group has ceased to harp on these strings.

ONE reason, of course, is the

be given. First, there is the hopeful insistence that while Governor Dewey is sure to be elected, the Democrats will regain control of the Senate and Mr. Dewey will thus be powerless to put through a program. This, of course, is a possibility, but it is a remote one. The fact is that if Dewey is elected by anything like the landslide indicated by the polls, he will pull through the Republican senators in all the states now classified as "doubtful."

IN BRIEF, a decisive Dewey victory means a Republican Congress in both branches. Every experienced politician knows this, and most of the talk about a Democratic Senate comes from persons who, for one small reason or another, would like to see Mr. Dewey handicapped after he gets in.

Second, there is the hopeful insistence that Mr. Dewey and Senator Taft are bound to clash, with resulting administration futility. This, too, is a remote possibility. The facts are that Governor Dewey and Senator Taft are now on exceedingly good personal terms. A serious clash is the last thing either would want. Clearly, it would be disadvantageous politically to both. No one expects Senator Taft to be a blind follower of President Dewey or to agree with him on every point. But there are so many reasons why a real rift, such as suggested, would be bad for both these intelligent and capable men, had for their party and had for the country, that those who know them best regard the idea as exceedingly far-fetched.

THIRD, there is the hopeful insistence that the so-called "Old Guard" in House and Senate will capture the Republican party and frustrate all Dewey's plans. This, of course, utterly ignores the facts that, as President, Mr. Dewey will have a tremendous lot of Federal jobs and Federal favors to distribute through Republican members of Congress; that these jobs and favors are of great political value in the states and districts; that members of Congress who try to nullify the plans of a new President automatically cut themselves off from such jobs and favors; that the hostility of a popular President would be a great liability to members of Congress who come up for re-election in 1950.

FULLY aware of these things, few detached and experienced observers believe that if elected Mr. Dewey will have any real difficulty with his own party. They take no stock in the notion of a great Dewey-Taft feud. As for the "Old Guard" capture of the party, that is even more farcical. Nearly all those suggestions are the product of wishful thinking. Most of them are predicted upon the false assumption that Mr. Dewey is a small, stupid man who will not know how to use the presidential power as a party leader. Of course, he will have trouble with some members in Congress. Every President has that. But that he will not be able to get along with his own party in the legislative branch, is certainly not borne out by his eight-year record at Albany.

NEVERTHELESS, these and similar forecasts will continue. Most of them will seem ridiculous—if they have not been forgotten—by the time they are scheduled to be fulfilled. Right now the silliest one to appear in print is the statement that Governor and Mrs. Dewey are jealous of Governor and Mrs. Warren because the lovely Warren daughters have been getting more and better publicity than the not-so-lovely Dewey sons. That should get the prize. However, it is only a little more absurd than the contention that all the rich Democrats and there are plenty in office here are patriotic and self-sacrificing fellows, while all the rich Republicans want to "shoot the poor"—a shoddy phrase which the professional "liberals" love to roll off their tongues and pens.

Vocal numbers by one of the cadets, Warren Hamilton, brought forth rounds of applause.

Named as honor cadet of the year was Donald Munchback, and to him was given a trophy, presentation being by the corps' musical direc- tor, Frank McCormick. Frank Cas- sedy, a member of the corps com- mittee, made presentation of jackets to five girls of the corps who have fulfilled three years of service.

Those awarded honorable dis- charges are Donald Munchback and "Jack" Quirk. The discharges were presented them by Herbert Walker, commander of the ninth district, American Legion, and past com- mander of Soby Post.

There were a number of guests present, several of whom were in- troduced to the gathering by Toast- master Zalot. Among them were: Arthur Straccio, commander of the junior drum and bugle corps of Robert W. Bracken Post, Bristol; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Matthews, Langhorne; Lynn Poyner, com- mander of Soby Post; and the retin- ing as well as the new officers of the Cadet Boosters' Association, the Soby Post and the American Legion Auxiliary. The new heads of these groups are: Mrs. Raymond Keen, Hulmeville, president of the Boost- ers' Association; Mrs. Howard Kn- izey, president of the Auxiliary; and Commander Poyner, of the Legion.

One table was reserved for former members of the corps who returned for this annual event.

Ezra Stone, prominent radio entertainer, who was scheduled to be present with Mrs. Stone, sent his regrets at being unable to attend.

The corps colors of blue and white were used as a decorative theme, and flowers were attractive- ly arranged throughout the coun- try club casino.

Parkland Church is Scene Of Schunk-Brown Nuptials

PARKLAND, Oct. 11.—A couple wed in Parkland Community Church on Saturday at the hour of four in enroute by automobile to Denver, Col., for two weeks honeymoon trip. The bride, the former Miss Geraldine E. Snyder, daughter of Mrs. Lydia Snyder, 341 Jefferson avenue, Bristol, took the vows which united her to Mr. Richard A. Schunk, son of Mr. A. Schunk, West Trenton, N. J.

Music for the occasion was provided by organist Miss Whitford Sylvester, the vocalist being Mrs. Frank Schunk, of Trenton. Mr. Walter T. Evans, Philadelphia, uncle of the bride, gave her in marriage. The officiating clergyman was the Rev. Mr. Hillis.

The bride was attired in white and her attendants in peacock blue and American beauty tones. The bridegroom was of broadcast satin with lengthy train. A wide double collar, off-shoulder type, was topped by an illusion yoke. The gown buttoned down the back to the bustle, and the full skirt was hoop style. Sleeves terminated in points over hands. Her Dutch style white satin cap with pearl trim, held a finger tip veil of illusion; and the bride carried an old-fashioned bouquet of white rose-buds.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Thomas Moran, Parkland, a cousin of the bride, was attired in American beauty taffeta; and the bridesmaids, Miss Ruth Ryan, of this community, and Mrs. Joseph Boyle, Cedar street, Bristol, in peacock blue taffeta. The gowns were patterned with sweet-heart style necklines, cap sleeves and long, detachable sleeves, and hoop skirts with bustle effect. Feather hats with plumes matched the gowns. The matron of honor wore silver slippers, and carried flesh-toned roses. The bridesmaids' slippers were of golden hue, and their bouquets composed of deep red roses.

Mr. Schunk had as his best man his brother, Mr. Frank Schunk, Trenton, and ushers list was inclusive of Messrs. John Neilson, and Lee Howard, both of Trenton.

Wedding guests, numbering 175, were entertained at a reception later in the Parkland Fire Co. station.

For the wedding journey Mrs. Schunk wore a gray wool dress with gold trim, 3/4-length black broadcloth coat with ermine collar, black hat with gray and white pompoms, black suede slippers and bag, and white kid gloves. "Behold the Lamb of God, which taketh away the sin of the world" (John 1:29).

O Lord, we humbly thank Thee for Thy eternal plan of redemption through the shed blood of our Lord Jesus Christ. Even as John the Baptist directed his followers away from himself to Jesus Christ, so we desire to point men to our Saviour. Grant that wisdom and courage shall be given to Thy children in order that those who know Thee might bear a good witness to Thy saving power. We pray in Jesus' Name. Amen.

GOODWILL WINS OVER ACES BY SCORE OF 6 TO 0

The amazing Goodwill Hose grid iron team reached its pinnacle of success Saturday night on the high school field as it dethroned the Langhorne Aces as independent Lower Bucks County champions. A touchdown in the waning seconds of the game gave the freshmen a 6-0 win over the Langhorne boys.

For three years the young Goodwill team has battled the Aces and always put on a good show against their heavier foes. The first two annual games saw Langhorne victorious by close margins. And Saturday night it appeared as if the Aces were in for another triumph but the stubborn Goodwill line refused to give in and for three quarters the teams battled scoreless with the Langhorne team clearly outplaying the hosemen on the offense.

But the final session was different. Whether Langhorne was tired or whether it lost heart because it could not budge the Goodwill line is not known but suddenly the fire-eaters put on an attack which finally led to a score.

Umpire Diamanti's stop-watch read thirty seconds to play and Goodwill had just received a holding penalty which sent them back to the Langhorne 25-yard line. The crowd started to file for the exits when "Bernie" Stiles took the ball from center and retraced to the 20-yard line to throw a pass intended for Joe Elmer. A Langhorne defensive back leaped up and batted the ball from Elmer but the pigskin went straight into the arms of Jack Coyne who was the follow-up man on the play. Coyne was over the goal-line when he caught the ball to a touchdown. Two Langhorne players spilled Coyne but the six-pointer was already chalked up. The try for the extra point was a failure. The game ended following the Goodwill kickoff to Langhorne.

But prior to the game-winning play, "Mickey" Lannucci set up the touchdown with a fine interception of a Langhorne pass. A Goodwill punt got as far as the 25 when it lost the ball on down. Ardis made eight yards on a punge and the Aces were again on the march. But in an effort to score a time was running out. Langhorne went into the air. Lannucci leaped up and caught the ball on the 9. No speed king on the turf, Lannucci managed to tug the ball to the 19-yard line where he was captured from behind by Elvatore. The penalty followed and then the score.

The Aces registered eight first downs to the Goodwill four. Langhorne threatened in a most every quarter. Twice in the first period it got within the 20-yard line of the Goodwill goal. At the start of the second session, Langhorne was within four yards of the touchdown stripe but were held on the fourth down.

Just before the last session, Goodwill got the ball in Langhorne's territory for the first time when "Joe" Jones whiffed a pass to "Mike" Rice to the 40-yard line.

Langhorne had a sustained march at the start of the second half, which carried it from their 35 to Goodwill's 20-yard line before the attack bogged down. During this drive "Jim" Flannery got out on a 20-yard end run.

In the first period of the second session, a pass, Dick Lannucci, to "Chuck" Adair was completed on the 8-yard line. Previous to the play Goodwill was pinned to the one-yard line and was forced to kick Goodwill held for three downs and Cooper went back to try for a field goal. The kick was blocked by a swarm of Goodwill players.

It was then that the hosemen made their second first down of the game and followed shortly with two others to carry the pigskin into the Langhorne 10-yard line to prepare for the lone score of the night.

"Buck" Reed who handled the ball on the "F" for the visitors and "Jim" Flannery were outstanding on the Langhorne offense with Clark doing a fine job on the defense. Reed also had some nice kicks during the melee.

The Goodwill kicking was exceptionally well. The punts kicked by "Luke" Wade and Claude Distler carried the freshmen away from danger on several occasions while Bobby Trapp's quick kicking caught Langhorne napping to pull its team from troubled waters.

Defensively, the entire Goodwill line deserves credit for holding Langhorne when the chips were down.

OLIVER'S PASSING FEATURES GAME AT BENSELEM

CORNWELLS HEIGHTS, Oct. 11.—"Eddie" Oliver gave a brilliant exhibition of passing here Saturday afternoon as the Bensalem Township eleven subdued the Pennsylvania School for Deaf, 29-12, in a hard-fought contest.

Oliver was pitching passes all afternoon and completed three of the aeriels for touchdowns. Another forward set up the stage for Ray Trueman to make a six-pointer. In the first half, Oliver threw the ball into the ozone eight times and completed 7, in all, Bensalem completed 5 out of 15 while P. S. D. had 8 completions in 19 attempts.

Not only did Oliver excel in his throwing but he brought back the best act of drop-kicking. Yesterday's teams in trying for extra points, use the placement kick. But not Oliver, he didn't want any of that and depended on perfect coordination and timing to drop-kick the pigskin over the bars on three occasions.

The Owls' first touchdown came early in the tilt on Oliver's pass to Bob King for 15 yards and in the second quarter, Ray Trueman skipped around end for an 15 yard run and a score. Prior to the touchdown play, Trueman had made two nice runs and Oliver completed a pass to Ashton.

P. S. D. hit paydirt on the final play of the first half. Standing on the mid-field marker, John Bingham heaved a pass to John Brown who caught the ball on the 41 and got away from two tacklers to score.

In the second half, a pass by Bingham to the three-quarter ended in a fumble. The ball was again but Bensalem recovered it shortly after Joe Trueman made a 15-yard pass on the 10-yard line. But he got off on a second attempt and before being tackled he had the ball on the 35-yard line.

Oliver played his part in a most every quarter. He whipped a pass to Frank Trueman who caught it on the 10-yard line and he added the second point.

P. S. D. came back fighting made for the third Bensalem score and made the best march of the afternoon. Bingham returned the kickoff to his 31-yard line and then heaved a pass to Bingham who caught it on his 32. Bingham's pass was intercepted by a Bensalem player.

Oliver's passing was exceptional. He completed 15 out of 25 passes for 300 yards and 3 touchdowns. He also kicked 3 extra points and 2 field goals.

to Brown was good for 10 yards and Bingham's take made a first for the Owls' 33. Three line plays and Hoshauer had a first down on Bensalem's 22. As the quarter ended, a pass Bingham to Brown carried the ball to the 15-yard line from where it took Glenn Hoshauer two plays to carry it over. Hoshauer missed the extra point conversion.

A pass which totaled 75 yards made the fourth Bensalem score. Standing on the 31-yard line, Oliver threw a long pass which was caught by George Ashton on the P. S. D. 31 and the Bensalem half-back raced the remaining distance to score.

Bensalem had 17 first downs while P. S. D. chalked up 9.

It was Bensalem's third win of the season they having been tied once but are unbeaten.

LANGHORNE WINS OVER MT. PLEASANT

MT. PLEASANT, Del., Oct. 11.—Langhorne High bounced back into the win column Saturday afternoon with a 14-6 triumph over Mt. Pleasant High. The Redskins had to come from behind to cop the victory as Mt. Pleasant pushed over a score in the first period. "Army" Pizzano evened the count for "Jim" Egli's lads in the third quarter with a plunge from the three-yard line. Langhorne made its final score in the last quarter.
